Professor Naveena Singh
Memorial Fund Recipients

Celia Carvalho Inacio de Vasconcelos
Post-graduate specialist in Gynecological Pathology, São Paulo, Brazil

2024 Travel Award
The awarded funds will allow for travel to the ISGYP 2024 Annual Meeting under the guidance of Dr. Carvalho's mentor, Dr. Louise De Bont. The project is entitled: Assessment of IHC Staining Characteristics in Primary Ovarian Carcinoma: A Comparison of Two Different Staining Systems."

Frederic J. Wongkar
Postgraduate of Pathology, Jakarta, Indonesia

Meeting closer workshop to develop Dr. Wongkar's role as a gynecological pathologist in Indonesia

The funds will go toward a 12-week visiting observership with Dr. Louise De Bont at ISGYP. The objectives of the observership are to learn the protocols, techniques, workflow, and research-based evidence used in running a gynecological pathology service at a major cancer center with a laboratory-based training program.

The job of editor-in-chief is a special and at times a difficult privilege. Deadlines, author demands, reviewer performance, quality decisions, publisher expectations and on and on. This is a job can really only be best appreciated by having done it, i.e. it takes one to know one. As one former IJGP editor to another, I heartily congratulate Lora on a decade of hard work well done! Under her vision and stewardship, the journal expanded its frequency from quarterly to bimonthly, introduced new article series and types and improved the journal's impact factor, all while maintaining the high quality of its content. For these significant accomplishments, the field owes her a major debt of gratitude and I wish her all the best as she enjoys life without this daily "privilege".

International Journal of Gynecological Pathology

Editor-In-Chief Report

Ricardo Lastra, MD
March 25th 2025

50

Thank you Lora!!

- Dr. Lora Hedrick Ellenson stepped down as EIC on December 31st, 2024
- 10 years as EIC
- Instrumental in the current success of the Journal
 - Publish-ahead-of print feature – reduced TAT
 - Introduced supplemental issues sponsored by ISGyP

51

Thank you Associate Editors!!

- Drs. Kathleen Cho, Robert Young, and Jaime Prat have stepped down as AEs
- Instrumental in the Journal's success – continue to rely on them for advice and special contributions
- Drs. Kay Park and Joe Rabban have agreed to continue as AEs

52

New Associate Editor Team

- From North America:
 - Dr. Kay Park (New York)
 - Dr. Joseph Rabban (San Francisco)
- From Europe:
 - Dr. Koen Van de Vijver (Ghent, Belgium)
 - Dr. Simona Stolicu (Targu Mures, Romania)
- From Asia/Australasia:
 - Dr. Karen Talia (Melbourne, Australia)

53

New Associate Editor Team

- Increased international representation and global exposure
- Increase pool of editorial board members
- Increase pool of reviewers
- Incentivize international submissions

54

Editorial Board Members

- End of tenure of approximately 15 EB members

Thank you for your service to the Journal!!

- Currently, EB is comprised by 55 members
- Aim to increase this to at least 70 members in the coming 2 months

55

Editorial Board Members

- EB is the main source of reliable reviewers
- Increase to 70 EB members → Increase in reviewer pool

- New/Junior members:
 - Will be provided a "Reviewer Guide" document
 - Will be paired with more senior members

Allows for educational opportunity/feedback as they read the senior reviewer's comments

56

Editorial Board Members

- Expect to receive a maximum of 1 manuscript/2 months; 6 manuscript per year (likely less than this)
- Please:
 - Accept to review when asked - one of the main functions of the EB members
 - Perform review within the timeframe indicated – allows for proper TAT in decision making

57

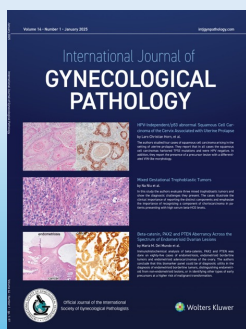

New Workflow

EIC and AEs will distribute the responsibility of handling manuscripts

1. EIC will assign manuscript
2. EIC/AEs will identify reviewers and interact with them as needed
3. AEs will provide recommendation to EIC for final disposition

58

New Cover

59

New Table of Contents

- Removal of the breakdown into "Lower tract, Corpus, and Upper Tract" categories
- New TOC:

1. Editorial 2. Original Articles 3. Reviews 4. Letter to the Editor 5. Case Reports	- More flexibility in organizing order of manuscripts to be included in the issue - Increased flexibility in publishing articles that have been in backlog for a long time - Allows for a potential "theme" to a specific issue
--	---

60

Special Issue Proposal

- WHO 6th Edition will not include benign entities
- Proposal for ISGyP sponsored online-only special issue to cover these entities
- Cost breakdown:
 - Per page cost (online only): $82.50
 - OA license price: $3,500
 - 4 articles with 100 pages: $22,500

61

Social Media Presence

- Old Twitter/X account has been resuscitated
- Needs a dedicated person to run this
- Identify an Editorial board member
- Request for the society to cover an annual financial remuneration to this person ($2500/year)

62

Reminder

- The Society has 4 pages at their disposal per issue
- Included in the contractual agreement with Wolters Kluwer
- No additional cost to the Society
- Advertising, newsletter once per year, etc.
- Please reach out to me with any questions or to make use of these pages

63

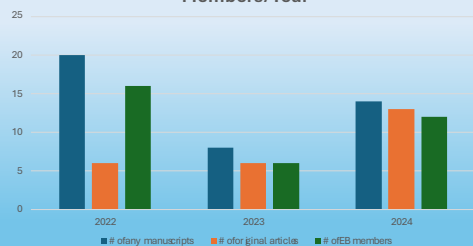

Submission of Your Manuscripts to IJGP

- EB members of IJGP:
 - Academically oriented gynecologic pathologists
 - Experts in the field
 - Authors of the main gynecologic pathology-related studies published each year

Only a minor subset of these are submitted to IJGP

64

Manuscripts Submitted to IJGP by EB Members/Year

65

Submitted Manuscripts by EB Members/Year - Original Articles
